Habit of the Month - Synergize

In March, we focused on the habit of synergizing. To synergize is simply to work together. Together is better. To practice synergy, it is important to value other people's strengths and learn from them. It is also essential to get along well with others, even people who are different than us. We must seek out other people's ideas to solve problems because by teaming with others we can create better solutions than anyone of us can alone. Synergizing with one another can make us humble.

How do you synergize?

Ramadan Mubarak!

By Jenna Mussad

Everyone knows Ramadan is here
When decorate and bake
But that is not all we do,
We also pray and read the Quran.
This special month only comes once a year
I wish it was always near.

If you don't know what Ramadan is, it is a month that is very memorable and essential to Muslims because it is the month that our book was revealed. In this month, we fast, meaning we don't eat or drink all day. It is one of the five pillars of Islam and we do this to practice empathy for those who are not as fortunate as we are. And then break our fast at sunset. We pray and give to charity during this special month as well.

This is my current to-do list during Ramadan:

- ~Reading Quran
- ~Studying/homework
- ~Helping my mom in the kitchen
- ~Hanging/talking with friends
- ~Paper crafting
- ~Writing poems
- ~ Reading books

What's on your to-do list?

Meet the Teacher: Ms. Mogalli

By Yazan Almaweri

How long have you been at Salina?

I started in the middle of december, I just started here as a teacher and I hope to continue to work as a teacher for the upcoming school year.

Why did you want to be a teacher?

I have always been inspired by my aunt, Arwa Mogalli I want to be on the opposite side of how middle school is always viewed as. Everyone seems to think Middle school is the toughest grade level to teach in. Every school level has challenges, and every school levels have their own pros and cons. I happen to be someone which middle school keeps me up on my feet. I tried elementary school, I enjoyed it because it felt like babysitting. High school was boring because it was quiet and the students weren't as social. Middle school was right in the middle where is wasn't too boring or too much to handle.

Do you have any hobbies?

Yes, I have a side business. I love art, gold leafing, sewing, knitting, sports and much more! Cooking also grabs my attention. I used be a painter. During my senior year, 4 students were selected to design and paint the side of the 9th grade biology room in Edsel Ford in the freshmen hallway. The theme was jungly with trees and animals. I was one of the 3 painters who worked on it. My signature is also on it, so I promise I am not lying!

What do you like to do in your free time?

Any time my younger sibling say that their bored, I tell them to sleep. I also get to nap in my free time, I really don't feel that much relaxation during my free time. My brain is always running while I'm really trying to relax.

What is one interesting fact about you?

Something that could be interesting to others is that I hate to travel. I have severe motion sickness. I also HATE surprises only because sometimes I am not that good at expressing how grateful I am and I don't want to make that person feel unappreciated.

Care to the Core

Care to the Core took place on March 23rd. We had a school-wide discussion about empathy, specifically for orphans. Our motto was, "be cool, bring $1 or more to school to send an orphan to school!" As a school, Salina Intermediate was able to sponsor 4 orphans for an entire year (each at $600)! All proceeds were give to the Iman Jasim Foundation, which is a foundation that runs around orphans overseas.
